Firm cables and continued drouth li the West caused wheat to rule strong oday. Prices on the Duluth board were very steady, the range of prices being onfined to lic. There was not muc speculative trading, but the business in eash stuff reached large proportions. There was a good demand for cash wheat all day. At the opening 4c premium premium was offered by the mills, considerable amount was sold on the premium to 3c and 16c over the premium to 3c and 16c o pers for No. 1 northern to arrive and Motel St. Louis, 324 W. Sap. St, Duluth 90% mium to %c and 1/2c over December, the 10% 1 15 latter for large round lots either in stor or for immediate arrival. Over 1,000,00 bus of cash wheat changed hands durin the session, of which the local mills took 75,000 bus. The rest was mainly for the Eastern mills. December opened at the split 57-57½c, declined to 567½c and reacted to 57c. May opened at 61¼c, declined to 57c. 50 only one sale being recorded at 91c. Bar-ley sold by sample at 24 to 28c. When in store, 3se higher for wheat to arrive and unchanged for December and May 21 shipments for the week, compared with the figures reported from New York, was a subject of general remark, but had no reflect upon the market during the fore-noon. The Russian shipments last week, as officially given out today, were 3,616,-1750 2 10 000 bus from the sundry ports, which included Roumania, Bulgarla and the other states tributary to the Danube; the exports were given as 2,120,000 bus; India shipped only 16,000 bus and Argentine 88,-250 6 5 75 000 bus. Adding to these two 409,000 bus from this country and Canada and the from this country and Canada and the total put affoat last week was $,219,009 bus, or about 500,600 bus more than on the week before, about 1,000,000 bus more than was unofficially reported yesterday and 1,000,600 bus in excess of the estimated weekly requirements of the import mated weekly requirements of the importing nations. The day's receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth were 1436 cars against 1010 on the same day last year, and in bushels the receipts at the two laces were 858,000, whereas all the Sensational Plot Credited to the Murderer of Catherine Ging.

Forced Confession to Be Secured from Adry Who Was to Be Murdered.

Details of the Alleged Plot Which Was to Release Harry.

Minneapolis, Oct. 23,-Another plot is credited to Harry Hayward, of greater horror than any of the recent ones. It was in the direction of doctored evidence, in which the principal feature was the brutal murder of his brother Adry. This plan pleased the murderous disposition of this fiend incarnate even better than the plan to escape. It was one of Harry's own make and is more characteristic of his cast of mind than the one unearthed through Michael Kierce. It got rid of his arch enemy, Adry, and it wiped out all evidence of the crime by a plan to kill the criminal instrument of his plot. The personnel of the plot is pretty well known, but no names except that of the well known detective whose connection with the case is an open secret; also one of Harry Hayward's near rela-

After "sounding" the detective Harry slowly and by degrees elaborated his murderous scheme. It was substantially this: Adry was first to be kidnapped and taken to a house near Hopkins, out on the prairie, some distance from any other building. There he was to be kept until he wrote certain confeswas about to kill himself; that it was he, not Harry that had caused Miss kidneys act as a drain to keep poison in Ging's death; that rather than live to the system. see his brother innocently hanged, he it might lead to saving his innocent brother, and more along this line. The difficulty of getting Adry Hayward to write and sign such a state ment was all provided for in advance. Adry was not to know that he was to be murdered. He was to be told that the only way to save his neck was to east a suspicion upon the ease, which would result in a new trial under the statement of newly found evidence, and they hoped to be able to build such a defense that Harry would get off, Adry was to be told that all they would want from him would be this statement, and that he could leave the country. If possible, he was to be sent to South Africa, if that kind of a proposition would satisfy him. In fact they were Colorado People Object to Maprepared to promise him anything so long as they succeeded in getting him to

A Common Experience and the Lesson it Contains for People Fond of Living Out of Doors.

A young man in Philadelphia was Formal Address of Welcome atally injured not long ago by so innoeent a thing as a cuff button. e feli in such a manner that the button was driven deep into the flesh of his wrist. The wound though painful, was not considered dangerous, and no great preeaution was considered necessary until signs of lockjaw appeared. Then, of Nation's Chief Executive ourse, all treatment was useless.

This is one example of the power for nischief of little things. Here is another less dramatic, but more common and, therefore, more impressive. People who went from town to country in the beautiful summer of 1895 delighted to spend most of their time out of doors. They even lay on the soft grass at night, watching the stars and enjoying the cool preeze. If, upon rising, a man found his back stiff he said: "I must have been in one position too long." If the stiffness persisted until the next day he said: "I guess I must have taken a little cold." But now vacations are over and the utumn is well advanced. That soreness and weakness in the lower part of the ack continue and with them are other dlsorders. ### Swift. But Fatal in its Action Unless Properly Treated.

Nine out of ten cases can be saved with proper care. This is a disease caused by microbes; they grow and increase in the terrible lesions of the throat; from there they are taken up by the blood, in this way they contaminate the entire system, and the patient dies thoroughly poisoned.

Use Kickapoo Indian Sagwa for this trouble. It purifies the blood; it acts direct on the stomach, liver and kidneys; it expels all poisonous secretions by the natural channels of the body, and enables the great vital organs to perform their natural functions; it carries the patient over the critical point of the disease; convalescence and health attend its use. WHY NOT AN ICE PALACE?

Why should not Duluth have a winter carnival this year, with a splendid ice palace that would eclipse all previous attempts in that line? The News! Tribune today suggests a series of winter sports, including, in addition to the curling tournament which has been arranged for, ice boat races, trotting the weaker nations upon the American forms of vice that serve but to destroy. races on the ice, ski clubs, skating clubs, toboggan slides and ail other kinds of amusement incidental to a winter carnival. This is good enough as far as it goes. There is no doubt that many people would be attracted here from all parts of the country to its principles as it is proposing to do Louis Star-Sayings, is based upon purely attend a winter carnival of this sort. TWO OBJECT LESSONS.

The cases of Charles Stuckey and Elmer Halling furnish two striking object lessons for the young men of Du one case, a promising young man who question to arbitration? had risen steadily from an humble position to the responsible post of eashier of a financial institution—a young man of much ability and with good prospects of further advancement in business life, had he been faithful to his trustfell through the Influence of the twin evils, gambling and dissipation. Evil straight to ruin. He soon became a requent victim of intoxication, he conorted with women of ill-repute and e was a steady visitor to gambling ouses. There is but one end to such road as he traveled. It is a road that leads to destruction, morally and financially. Today he is a fugitive from justice, an outcast and a wanderer upon the face of the earth.

The other case is equally sad, although the victim of his own indiscretions did not fall so low or become so abandoned to all sense of respectability. In the case of Elmer Halling, it was a prodigal expenditure of money to an amount greater than his income could afford that has landed him in the police | ter. It would bring thousands of visitors station. He was inclined to spend his money too freely in saloons-with customers of his employers, he says, for the most part-and when his own funds gave out he appropriated the firm's money that was in his keeping to the same purpose. There can be no excuse for such conduct. It was dishonest and criminal, and today he is should be no difficulty in uniting and in- bitterly repenting his acts of folly.

I myself have seen a number of wells in which the water rose and fell at intervals. This is not an uncommon phenomenon in parts of the West. It has a relation to changes of the barometer. When the barometer is high the pressure of the atmosphere being greater, the water in such wells and springs stands at a low level. On the other hand, when the mercury in the glass is low, the diminished pres-

"There are many phenomena connected with Western wells and springs which are calculated to excite the attention of an observer from the East. They are puzzling oftentimes, even to the scientific student. I have never seen a well that roared, but I know no reason why such a thing might not happen. After the instrument had been completed with the exception of a few finishing touches, Soulby found it absolutely necessary to keep the door of his workshop tightly closed, so as to admit no sounds from the outside, otherwise the inarticulate runblings given off by the inarticulate rumblings given off by the "ejector" would have become unbearable. IT. IS HARD TO TELL Just When Summer is Finally Over and Autumn Is Here

Again.

When is summer over, and when does all begin? It is easy to say "look in the almanac." The evidence of that respectable volume is not conclusive, because the seasons glide into each other by slow degrees. One day is sharp and raw, yet the almanac says "summer." Another is hot and enervating. "It is autumn," declares the same authority.

These sudden fluctuations make our American climate so trying to the human constitution. They produce the colds that prostrate the strongest men, and run into pneumonia and even into consumption. All who have pneumonia are not in immediate danger of death. The old are most likely to be taken off, but every attack of this malady weakens the power of the body to resist disease.

Wise men and women take no chances. In the season of sudden and extreme changes of temperature, they have found that Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky by diluting the blood vessels near the surface of the body, prevents the chills and congestions which are the forerunners of a severe cold. PAINTING OUR HOUSE.

Truth: I was informed by everyone in our village that our landlord was a man of his word and would do just what he agreed to. so when I got him to agree to paint our house and surroundings, I thought I had a pretty good bargain.

"I'll paint everything around the place that you want me to," said he, with a suave smile that was only slightly marred by his prodigious chew of tobacco. That was where I got left. I should have made him agree to paint the colors that I desired. Unfortunately our tastes do not agree, and that house looks like a chromatic aberration of a nocturne by Whistler. When I argued with him he merely said he was painting it the color it ought to be. Finally I asked him what color the leaves around the place ought to be. "Green," said he, "as a matter of course." I have him now painting the autumn leaves green, as fast as they lurn. I am ahead of one landlord, anyway.

State Bank Must Return Dahl & Peterson's Deposit Made Last Friday.

Judge Morris So Decided Yesterday Afternoon After Hearing the Case.

The Bank Represented I Was Not Insolvent at That Time.

It will be remembered that last Friday, to show their faith in the State bank's solvency, Dahl & Peterson, the grain firm, made a deposit in that bank, They must have become uneasy upon the bank's closing, for yesterday they brought suit against A. D. Davidson, the assignee, to recover the amount of their deposit, and Judge Morris rendered judgment in their favor. In their complaint Dahi & Peterson say that Davidson has in his possession $1563.28 in currency, of which they are owners and which Davidson refused to give up. It is alleged that the firm deposited two cheeks in the bank Friday afternoon between 2:45 and o'clock, and that when the officials of the bank received the money, the bank was insolvent and they knew it, though the plaintiffs did not. At o'clock it closed its doors and did not eopen again for business. The bank officials knowing the bank to be insolvent, kept money which they received from collecting the two checks n a separate envelope with plaintiff's name upon it. Saturday the bank made an assignment to Davidson, and though he has been asked for the money he would not give it up. Judgment was asked for the immediate delivery of the money. Billson, Congdon & Dickinson brought the suit. Davidson's answer, filed by Schmidt, Reynolds & Mitchell, did not set up the time of receiving Dahl & Peterson's

Davidson expressed in his answer a willingness to bring the money into court and abide by its decision, and asked judgment only for what was right and proper. By stipulation the matter came before Judge Morris in chambers yesterday and judgment was rendered for Dahl & Peterson upon the pleadings. The credit of this remarkable achievement is supposed to belong to Alfred.

It was originally the intention of the authors to allow their initials. "C. T." and "A. T.," to appear on the title page and at the end of the brief preface. But perhaps they feared that "searching microscope of scrutiny" of which they speak in the introductory stanzas. At all events, while the printer was preparing the book for publication, he received a note reminding him that it was "no part of the agreement" that their initials should be used, and they therefore wished to delete them."

ARRIVAL AT BUFFALO.

Official-Records of the Fastest Time Ever Made.

Buffalo, Oet. 24.-The world's record or railread speed over a great distance was broken today by a special on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, which ran from One Hundredth street, Chicago, to Buffalo Creek, Buffalo, a distance of 510.1 miles in 481 minutes 17 seconds, an average speed of 63.60 miles an hour. The time includes stops. Exclusive of stops, the run was made in 470 minutes 10 seconds, an average speed of 64.98 miles

The New York Central's record Sept. 11 was an average speed of 63.61 miles an hour, including stops, and 64.26 miles an hour exclusive of delay. The train left Chicago this morning at 3:29:27 a. m. (eentral time) and arrived at Buffalo Creek at 11:30:34. Four minutes later the train eame to a stop in the Central station in Buffalo. The train was made up of three coaches, engine and tender. The coaches were two Wagner drawing room cars, "Madagascan and "Esmeralda," and Mr. Webb's private car, the combined weight being 304,500 pounds. The weight of engine and tender was 184,000 pounds, making the total weight 488,500 pounds. Different engines were used on each o ne divisions, but the run for the divisions were: Chicago to Elkhart, 87.4 miles in 85 minutes 26 seconds. Elkhart to Toledo, 133.4 miles, in 124 minutes 35 seconds. Toledo to Cleveland, seconds. Cleveland to Erie, 95.5 miles in 85 minutes 32 seconds. Erie to Buffalo, 86 miles in 70 minutes 16 seconds. Between Chicago and Elkhart the train was obliged to slow down for railroad motive works at Dunkirk, N. Y., and ntendent of motive power for the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway. IMPORTANT CAPTURE Due to Minister DeLome's Watchfulness.

Washington, Oct. 24.—It has been due to the activity of Mr. Depuy De Lome the Spanish representative in Washington, that the large band of Cubans, charged in Delaware with being filibus terers, have been apprehended in one o the Bahama islands. Brief word of the capture has already been received heretofore, and has now been confirmed by official advices. Since the acquittal at Wilmington Del., of the Cubans charged with being libusterers, the minister has not lost track of the men. While the jury found them guiltless, the minister was satisfied that they intended to conduct an expedition to Cuba. He received constant reports of their movements, but took no step toward their apprehension until they reached one of the Bahama slands and were under the jurisdiction of the British authorities. The latter were quick to act, and as no British war vessel was at the point of Cuban rendezvous, a ship was ordered to proceed from Jamaica. The capture was effected without delay and the prisoners taken to Nassua, where they will be tried by the British. The impression among officials here is that the suspects will be dealt with by the British authorities in a summary way. The capture is regarded as one of the most im portant thus far made.

"Shut up your mouth!" roared Schweinmagen, but it was too late. None of the other players would call his last raise. Schweinmagen took the boy upstairs. He returned in five minutes, red in the face, and resumed the game with the remark:

"You bet, I sphank dot poy goot!"

Half an hour later, when all were trying to win a big pot, Schweinmagen's 6-year-old girl exclaimed:

TRICKS IN HIGH DIVING.

"What bothers most people who think anything about the subject," said Kearney P. Speedy, a high diver, in the New York Herald, who began his public career by jumping head first from the St. Louis bridge four or five years ago, "is how a dive of fifty or sixty feet can be made into a tank of thirty-six inches of water. You see they confuse diving with bridge jumping—quite a different thing. Bridge jumpers are neither jumpers nor divers—they're droppers; that is, they reach the lower rods of the bridge truss and drop feet foremost into the water. The trick is to maintain the perpendicular. They must have plenty of water under them, too. The high diver, as you have seen, makes a clear dive, head first, just as a boy does from a springboard in swimming. I do it in very shallow water. I weigh, stripped, 180 pounds, and never do any training. I have been diving from the top of a circus tent all summer into a tank but seven feet wide and into water but three feet deep. The shallow water dive is possible from the same principle that a cannon or rifle shot meets the most resistance the more powerful the impact. You see, I give my body and head a slight inclination upward at the instant I strike the water, which causes me to pop out as a board would do or an oar on the feather. I learned this trick in the St. Louis natatorium when a boy, practicing in shallow water and from a greater height. Then there is a certain elasticity in the water known to the high diver, but the trick is in the strike and turn, for water will break bones and crush chests, as many a man knows."

thing which has been proven and found true. We today in the Anglo-Saxon race are an example of what the Christian re ligion can do for the world. It has lifted our forefathers from their ancient place in the mire and clay of barbarism until today the Church of Christ controls twothirds of the civilized world. Rulers oow their knee to the King of Kings, gested: Why may the time not come when Christianity shail fall away and die?, The answer is indisputable. The Christian religion is calculated if any re ligion is to be the final and supreme religion in the world. The religion to Election of Officers Fol- succeed must be religion to satisfy the wants and needs of the human heart. Every man and every people has a conception of God. They may call the Supreme being by different names but they all have the same feeling of the existence of an omnipotent creator. "'Our Father.' If I were asked to condense the Bible into two words, those are the two I would use. But even those the one who gave his only begotten son the one who gave his only begotten son that we might have everlasting life. The idea of a mediator is instructive. Christianity has one mediator in Christ-the Lord Jesus Christ. Until there comes some religion with a better mediator, you will end its deep sympathy to the suffering find no religion as acceptable to the human heart as Christianity. We have a sacrifice for sins in Christ. He is a propitiation for one wrong doing. Until some better and greater mediator can arise Christianity is paramount. Let me call your attention to a significant fuct. Every good thing in other religions is incorporated in Christianity. HIS PRINCIPLES COVER ALL. "It is now nearly nineteen centuries since our teacher taught. He not only gathered up the truths of the past but but he beggared the future. The principles of life handed down by the master absolutely cover every department of human existence and satisfy every want of the human heart. We measure every bown to me." I A. ARCHER, M. "MY LITTLE BOY THAT DIED."

Look at his pretty face for just one min-His braided frock and daintily His firm-shut hand, the favorite plaything Then tell me mothers, was it not hard

And miss him from my side, My little boy that died?

I hear him pattering through the house watch his great blue eyes grow large Listening to stories, whether grave or

Told at the bright fireside, So dark now since he died. But yet I often think my boy is living, As living as many other children are; When good-night kisses I around am giv

I keep one for him, though he is so far; Can a mere grave divide Me from him—though he died? So, while I come and plant it o'er with (Nothing but childish daisles all year tinually God's hand the curtain raises And I can hear the merry volces sound, And feel him at my side, market had fallen during the past few days. Early cable news was of an encouraging nature and late cables responded to our firmness. The weather map showed little rain in one or two places, but not enough to be of consequence, and reports of extreme dryness and probably damage were about as plentiful as yesterday. Some of these reports are evidently extreme, but if we don't get rains pretty soon where needed, it will look very unfavorable for the growing wheat. Export takings were again quite a factor, forty-one loads being reported at New York and room was engaged for 600,000 bus via Gladstone and Buffalo to Liverpool.

And feel him at my My little boy that died.

Cash corn and oats were again in active demand and closed strong. Re-

Shrewd Advertisers...

Know that a newspaper whose circulation is kept up by a free doorstep distribution is of little value as a medium. The advertising columns of The Herald show that business men appreciate its standing as a regular paid home visitor.

Merit Wins...

The general excellence of The Herald day after day is what has brought its present wonderful growth and popularity. The people want it and will have it. The Herald does not have to resort to free delivery to secure circulation.

The Associated Charities met last Avon, which has been built this sumevening in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. The president and secretary were directed to call a meeting of the board of directors and the secretary was instructed to notify all the charitable associations of the city to send delegates to the meeting. The figures are for the first nine months in 1894 and 1895. In 1891 for fuel, $884 was spent against $546 in 1895, a saving of $338; for groceries, $13,212 was spent in 1894 and $8188 in 1895, a unless the retraction was made Mr saving of $5021; the hospitals cost Kiley would be accommodated. $8652 in 1894 as against $6356 in 1895, a saving of $2296. The total saving for the first nine months of 1895 over the first nine months of 1891 was $7658.

This means not only that the secretary of the Associated Charities has been vigilant, but it means that there is less destitution and that a smaller number of people have applied for aid The secretary has investigated 14 cases this year, and has received 314 applications for work, of which 108 were supplied During the first nine months of this year aid has been extended by the county to 1880 people, divided among nationalities as follows: Swedes, 455 Norwegians, 222; Danes, 28; Irish, 52; Canadians, 198; Americans, 223; Scotch, 11; English, 85; Poles, 204; Italians, 36; Germans, 210: Icelanders, 15; Finland-

ers, 80; Austrians, 16; Russians, 44

Of this number thirty-five were widows, twenty-one were widowers, fourteen have been described, 443 are unmarried, and 1202 were children. The average age of the adults was 41 years. As regards religion, there are more Lutherans by thirty-seven than all other denominations combined. The division by sects follows: Lutherans, 314; Catholics, 162; Methodists, 33; Beptists, 23; Episcopalians, 21 Presbyterians, 16: just Protestants, 15 Hebrews, 10; Salvationists, 6; Congregationalists, 4; Mission, 2; nothing, 25. In his report Capt. Miller also explained some of the difficulties which have had to be met this year. There is always the usual number of people who are pauper by hirth, education and inclination. They make begging a study, and follow i whether they are idle or working. It re quires great vigilance to prevent imposition from these people. The hard times have prevented a great many of the charitably inclined from giving as liberally as usual, and this has thrown much greater burden on the county and Ladies' Relief society. Capt. Miller spoke of the Ladies' Relief society and and the systematic work which it accomplishes. At present there is a decided improvement in conditions, because the market for labor is now good and there is little excuse for idleness.

more consistently drawn, so the critics say, than in any other of all productions the plot is more tangible and is more consistently carried out than in any other of his works. The story deals with American politics upon which it is a keen satire. It also throws a few slingshots at Washington society which are inserted in a way that has celebrated Hoyt as one of the best satirical writers in America.

Tim Murphy, who heads the company, has made a reputation for himself in the character of Maverick Brander which he assumes in the comedy. The company surrounding him is one of the best ever seen in Hoyt's farces and they have played so long in this one piece that every detail of business, every look and gesture is finished and ptlished to the last degree. MINNEAPOLIS MILLING. Slight Falling Off in the Week's Production.

Minneapolis, Oct. 24.-The Northwestern Miller gives the following sum- An Eminent Specialist's Idea on the Kidmary of the week's milling news: The flour output at Minneapolis last week was 273,905 barrels against 298,900 the week before and 233,295 the same week last year. Minneapolis output may show another small decrease this week. Curing the Kidneys Makes us Well Most of the mills experienced more or When We Are Side less improvement in the demand for flour last week, and although it came in a quiet way, the aggregate sales were only about 15,000 barrels short of the production. The volume of orders taken, varied with different firms. The export trade was generally light, though one concern sold freely. In one or two cases good export orders had to be turned down because the miller was uncertain as to his ability to get the flour in transit before the close of navigation. A majority of the mills found domestic business quite good, orders coming from all directions, and being indicative of a good healthy situation for millers. It was noticeable that buyers, when placing orders, were urged to have the flour shipped at once. Some millers have become a trifle easier as to capacity for handling an increased number of orders, the minimum price on patent being quotable about 5 cents lower.

With some firms, first clear is not selling rapidly at full prices, but second elear goes almost without effort. Red dog is easier in price, as are all grades of feed. The possibility of an advance of freights is a sort of nightmare to the miller as it would greatly disorganize his business to have rates put up any higher. Export shipments of flour $2,300 barrels against 93,800 the week before, and 38,800 in 1894.

ing for a brighter life in a hymn which you do not find in your closet; and, in singing, you come into sympathy with the truth as you perhaps never do under the preaching of a discourse. There is a provision made in singing for the development of almost every phase of Christian experience. Singing has also a wonderful effect upon those feelings which we wish to restrain. All are not alike of the intellect with the cuteness of the sharper; an age when truth and falsehood lie so near together that it is a matter of great discernment to be able to distinguish between right and wrong. Into this age is thrust the childhood of today and in so far as the church accepts her responsiblity, so far is she progressive and a leader in the van of Christian culture.

I value junior work therefor as a definte sign that the church of God is making the course, it is this, "we have fought the fight, we have kept the faith, we have tinished the course," and whilst rejoicing in their reward he asks tremble in the reward he I value junior work therefor as a definite sign that the church of God is making headway as the great central force in the equipment of the coming generations for Christ and the church.

It is one of the great agencies of God in lessening, the masses of non-church goers. We have our evangelistic methods, by which the gospel is borne almost the world over. We have our Y. M. & Y. W. C. Will soon pass away and who will eare for the church of God now? But in the distance there is marching onward a company whose numbers can be catches their bugle call and hears their clarion cry, it is this, "For Christ and the church." He thanks God and takes courage; but yet he says these, too, will soon pass away and who will eare for the church then? But who are these that fly as a cloud, that come as unto Mount is music. "A song will outlive all sermons in the memory." Its intelligent use is particularly important to us as Christian Endeavorers banded together as we are in such great numbers, with so glorious a motto, "For Christ and the Christian to lead a meeting or offer prayer when their lives are not in accord with the righteousness of Christ; then why should we expect them to lead a meeting or offer prayer when their lives are not in accord with the righteousness of Christ; then why should we expect them to lead of our Sunday school, while the salvation of ten juniors lessens by one-tenth these most sacrilegious, or, in less severe wival services people praising God and urging others to come to him who care nothing at all for the words they are designing.

While our choirs occupy an important place in our service, do we not depend upon them too much? In a conversation not long since with one of my friends who is greatly interested in the subject. She said: "There is no work that the Christian Endeavorers can engage in that would be more appreciated than urging and helping congregational singing." What a difference it would make in all our church services if Christians were to sing as if they were practising for the celestial chorus. In conclusion I can do no better than quote the words of one of our greatest divines:

"Singing is that natural method by which thoughts are reduced to feeling more easily, more surely and more universally than by any other. You are conscious when you go to an earnest meeting, for instance, that, while hymns are being sung and you listen to them, your heart is, as it were, loosened, and there comes out of those hymns to you a leaf out of my own note book. In September of hast year North Dakota was then pastor of the extreme western church in the extreme western than the past of of ordinary of the state, 300 miles from Fargo. We had found it impossible to keep a senior society and so I organized a junior of forty-two members. This so more to falmost every phase of Christian experience. Singing has also a wordy deful effect upon those feelings which we wish to restrain. All are not alked the meeting, but I got there all right not some extent. I speak with emphases on this point, because I am peculiarly send the meeting, but I got there all right not some extent. I speak with emphases on this point, because I am peculiarly send the meeting, but I got there all right not some extentions and heard the report, "No more the bear of the fall of the point of the po child's voice can be heard asking for its necessary recognition. Silence that voice you say! Never! It cannot be slienced, we dare not slience it lest the great fabric of church progression tumbles to the ground.

My plea at this time is, give the child a chance, listen to its voice, hear its earnest plea, throw your sympathles, co-operation and love around him and your labors shall be abundantly rewarded.

My subject is "The Value of Junior Work." let me say first that I value junior work because it is the truest sign that the church is keeping pace with the times in which we live. Today we live in a progressive age, second to none in the history of the world. We are not living amid the bloom and beauty of paradise when the day of overshadowing clouds was not known, when the rosebud had no thorms, the beast no ferociousness, the insect no sting and the heart no sorrow; it is not the age of the rich music of that happy home which had no minor chords, no notes of melancholy, no sounds of discord, not the age when the streams, the woods and the cedars were like so many harp strings bringing joy to its living inhabitants. Nay, would to God that it was, but the age of today is an intensified age that followed the cold shadow of the fall in which the rose that bloomed in paradise with the A.'s that seek to reach the young men and women; our Bible school for a greater efficiency in Scripture study; then there arises that once despised but now welcome handmaid, the Saivation Army, and last but not least that great "headlight of the nineteenth century," the Christian Endeavor, and still the masses are unreached. The cesspools of vice are entrapping our thousands. The dismai swamps of the slums are swallowing up their tens of the slums are swallowing up their tens of thousands. The avalanche of drunkenness is carrying away its millions. The frequenters of the cesspools yesterday. The residents of the clumk today. The inhabitants of the drunkards' grave tomorrow, were not born in the slums, but were in most cases once in our Sunday school and frequenters of our churches. Thank God our Sunday schools are doing a noble work, but they cannot stem the tide of church digression.

The churches are holding forth the word but are unable to stop the outflow toward skepticism and infidelity.

Children are drifting, boys are drifting, men are drifting and the slums become full mental the study; as a cloud, that come as unto Mount Zion, their sound at first is but faint, but it increases, it now is as the voice of many waters, now fuller yet fuller, deeper and higher, on, on they come until he sees their numbers, hears their song and on their numbers, hears their song and on their numbers, hears their song and the sums of their numbers, hears their sound at first is but faint, but it increases, it now is as the voice of many waters, now fuller yet fuller, deeper and higher, on, on they come until he sees their numbers, hears their song and bit increases, it now is as the voice of many waters, now fuller, deeper and higher, on, on they come until he sees their numbers, hears their song and on their numbers, hears their so skepticism and infidelity.

Children are drifting, boys are drifting, men are drifting and the slums become full of the young men and women that ought to have been retained in our Sunday schools. It is a sad fact, but alas it is too true that our own children are feeding the slums. Our own children are filling up the ranks of the deprayed and dying, simply because they have been allowed to drift.

I value junior work because it fortifies

Dear brother workers, no church for its own sake can afford to be without the en-closure within the enclosure, to have from crossing the dead line either at 50, 60 or 80 summers.

The work of the junior society reacts on the worker. You have watched the sculptor slowly fashioning the face of a human being in a block of marble. You have watched the artist studiously outlining the subject of his picture, I ask, was the bust completed by one stroke of the maliet or chisel, was the picture finished by one touch of the brush? The artist puts a touch here and a finish The artist puts a touch here and a finish there and makes a complete whole. Now, I ask, is this work of the model, or the picture the only thing worthy of note? Is there no development of the man? What then of the artist's intensified sense of finish, touch and coloring? What of the sculptor's idea of perfect symmetry and beauty? Why just this. That each stroke of the mailet, each touch of the brush, makes the man more and more fitted to accomplish higher and nobler artistic work. given up to the juniors. The rally was conducted by Rev. W. W. Newell, who read an interesting speech by Albert Long, 8 years old. It was as follows: Whenever I am among the juniors; i seems homelike and I feel that I am among friends. You don't know how glad I am that the juniors of the Morley church have part in this great convention of the Endeavorers of the state, and that the junior societies of Duluth have been given a whole hour to themselves on the program. Bound together by this indispense to do some will not instruct the powers that be in soluble devotion to our common Lord eternal masonry is our common delittle people have a chance to do something without the big people bother-

The Junior Endeavor society, I think often does as much good in the churches as the bigger societies. They are as good workers as anybody. A beginning to you are speaker, saying: "Rev. Mr. Dawley said workers as anybody. A bee isn't very big, but when he takes a notion he can make it pretty lively in his neighborhood. And so we juniors can make it lively, when we get to work, though we don't mean to sting anybody. We can help the churches a whole lot, and if they get discouraged they can come into our meetings and we juniors can cheer

Sometime ago our society heard of church at the West End without a miniminister for a month. We can get little folks to come to our society, and when little folks get to be big folks, if they keep the pledge, they will be Christian men and women ready to go into the churches and help them along. Is it any wonder we think a good deal of our societies, and that we want to grow up we give socials to raise money for the Lord's work. I think societies are great fun. I remember one that we had with our friend Mr. Newell, where we had lots of nice things going on; games, recitations, solos, magic lanterns. How many of you juniors ever saw a magic lantern? What beautiful pictures they make! Let | us as juniors try to live so that our lives will make beautiful pictures for God to look at; and last, but not least, splendid refreshments, three kinds of cake, lemonade, and other things that boys like, and at this social and were able to give $10 advanced on the earth, and that we as girls too for that matter. We raised $12.50 to the convention fund. I think it was the very first money given for that purpese by any Duluth society, so you see we juniors can do something when we set about it and keep trying. The weekly junior meetings do much good to all of us and I know we enjoy of the clergy, and he said: them very much. MR. WALLAR'S RESPONSE. Mr. President, Fellow Endeavorers and Citizen's of Duluth: generous greeting, we thank you. I am told that I have ten minutes in which to introduce ourselves and tell you why we are here. We certainly do not need much of an introduction to any intelligent audience in these days. I was in Chicago in the year 1888, when the national convention was held there, and I know that several of the citizens of that wicked Windy City found time to leave their pork and boodle long enough to inquire what those meetings in the Exposition building meant. I know too that thousands upon thousands of them did not know there was such a thing as a Christian Endeavor society. But such could be the When the applause had died away, case now in no humblest hamlet of Rev. W. We are in the Lord's service to push things. And I may sum up very briefly why we have come together in this modern Thessalonica at the apex of the world's greatest fresh water sea. We are here to become saturated with the Endeavor idea; to become awakened to the best forms of Endeavor activity; to cultiinterdenominational fellowship; and, lastly, to leave upon the citizens of Duluth, may we not hope, an impress favorable to Christ by our behavior. It has always been my pleasure to maintain that the Christian Endeavor idea is an importation into any community from without; and that, therefor a local society that means to become just what it chooses, than was early Christianity to modify the gospel "Ah," said the clergyman as secration and committee work, then mittee we must have in spirit and in power, and not in form only, or we are no Endeavor society.

We believe convenions like this to be of almost inestlmible value in keeping us abreast of the development of our germinal idea. We are here also to catch the thusiasm of numbers, to see face face some of the seventy times seven thousand that have not bowed the knee to Baat; to learn, to be stirred while here to inventive genius in spiritual we came-delegates from home-but to go home as delegates from this convention to our local societies, to carry its fire and spirit back into the hearts of the dear companions there who have. not been permitted to enjoy this high

One of the objections urged against Christian Endeavor is that it was originated by a Congregationalist. We take it for granted that those who bring this ndietment have no special feeling of animosity against Dr. Clark or the body of Christians of which he is a member They simply mean to imply that a thing that would have been most excellent if begotten by a member of their own sect loses a large part of its excellence by being brought into the world by a representative of another denomination. There is much human nature, if little sense, in this objection. I remember vate and practice the spiritual art of that when I was a small boy my father brought home some eggs which, he said, had been laid by Baptist hens. I immediately concluded that these eggs would have a special delicacy of flavor, and was not a little disappointed to find that in appearance and taste they differed not a whit from eggs bought at the fore, the first duty of every young man or young woman who would wear the Endeavor name and badge, is to thorgrocery of unknown ecclesiastical parent-We welcome you as those who have oughly acquaint himself with the conssession from those of other faiths than our own. "Lead Kindly Light" has been the prayer of many troubled souls gave no thought to the who that he who formed fact that he who formed it dled a loyal son and honored cardinal of the Roman Catholic church. "Nearer, My God, to Thee" voices the longings of aspiring souls everywhere, even though she who gave it being was a Initarian.

Let us lay hold of the good wherever we find it. A great thought is the common heritage of the race. To reject that which had not its beginnings in the confines of our sect is to rob ourselves of power and joy.

But another objects that a society of Christian Endeavor is not denominaional. "We must have an organization," says this objector, "that is denominational." Will some one tell us what a society of Christian Endeavor in M. E. church is if not Methodist? The officers and members are all Methodists. It is in and of and subject to that church. Loyalty to the denomination and to the local church is emphasized constantly and strongly. Is a Sunday school, studying the international lessons, less a denominational school be cause thousands of schools representing other sects are studying the same lessons and using the same methods. "But," the objector adds, "there is no opportunity an international organization to indoetrinate the young people. They can not be educated in the distinctive tenets distinctive truths in the mass meeting There is just one person to be held responsible for the doctrinal training o young as well as old-the pastor. If he neglects his opportunity, the work wil go undone. If he is faithful, the Chrisaffords an abundant opportunity for doctrinal training as anyone could

But another objection, and that the one most frequently urged, remains.

It is said that we must have a strictly denominational society in order to "hold our young people." The contention is that if a Baptist young man meets a Presbyterian young woman in a Christian Endeavor union meeting a life partnership may be formed. Horrible thought! Let us at once voice the Scrip tural commandment so that it shall read 'Let no Baptist man be unequally yoked with a Presbyterian woman." This fear of losing our young people if they be permitted to mingle freely with the young people of other religious bodies does not argue well for our confidence in the impregnability of our position. No denomination can long serve in this age and land which is builded upon the gnorance and isolation of its members The only loyalty worth having is that which rests upon an intelligent comparison of beliefs. A glass case is a good place for relics but a poor place for living men; and the denomination which indertakes to confine its young people herein will soon find the case shattered and the young people gone. Turning, now, to the other side of this question, let us look at some of the adantages of interdenominational fellowship. Were I to ask of this body of young people tonight, "How many have been helped spiritually by such gatherings as this?" no doubt the answering "I" would fall from hundreds of lips. There is inspiration and uplifting and look beyond our party walls to the kingdom of God on earth, then there is a warmth in our hearts and a thrill of joy which we know under no other conditions. This may be called sentiment, but there are other and intensely practical results. We come together, each bringing the hest he has in methods and plans of work. These are made common property, and each may bear away all that can be utilized in his own field. The educational value of this uniting todenominations can hardly be over-estimated. But the chief value of these in-alone. We are not enemies, neither are denomination for itself. The Christianity of our day needs nothing so much as Grave dangers threaten. Great social problems are to be solved. Shall we meet these dangers and strive to settle these problems as bushwhackers or as a great army? There is tremendous loss in time and money by present methods. When shall we realize this. and come close together in consultation and co-operation? Because I believe that the greatest mistake of modern Christianity lies in the useless disinegration of forces. I rejoice in this noble society and its splendid example

"I believe that the prayer meeting committee is the most important in the society. The Christian Endeavor society is distinctly a religious society. Personal work of all kinds was discussed, such as getting members of the society into the church and getting new attendants at the Endeavor meetings. The discussion was long and lively. Suggestions and questions were prompt and interesting and the interest was sustained until the close. The question of dropping members after failure to attend three consecutive consecration meetings aroused a lively discussion and much difference of opinion. In closing the leader said that they should be careful whom they asked to sign the active membership list, that they should be capable of keeping the pledge they take. At this point State President Leffingwell, of Wisconsin, spoke a few timely words greeting the Minnesota Endeavor-

ers in the name of the Wisconsin society. Then Miss Annie S. Tupper sang Tours' "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" in a beautiful nanner, and the discussion of Christian itizenship was taken up. "The Sabbath Side" was discussed by Rev. George W. CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP AND SUNDAY REST.

It is a popular objection that Christlans should have but little to do wit politics. Indeed some say it is not within the province of a Christian teacher to be interested in the subject of politics. If this be true conditions have greatly changed. The duty of Christianity is as Christianity has nothing to do with polities? Times have greatly changed then. Was John Knox less a reformer because he had to do with the polities Christianity has nothing to do with politics? Times have greatly changed then. Was John Knox less a reformer because he had to do with the politics of Scotland? Was Wilberforce any the less a Christian because he sought to effect the passage of laws which meant freedom for the slave? Were the Pilgrims, who came to these shores two hundred and seventy-five years ago, any the less noble because they came to established the public sentiment which will demand not only in making of such Sunday laws but a proper enforcement of the same. A statesman has said: "It is the duty of the state to make it easier for its people to do right and harder to do wrong," this being our duty we ought to agitate this question. All great reforms are brought about by agitation. Sir Robert Peel defined agitation to be "the marshaling of the conscience of a the less noble because they came to establish a Christian state? On the conrary every movement for reform, every great purpose achieved, every moral and religious problem which has been solved, both in Europe and on this continent, within the last four hundred years, has been made conspicuous by the leadership ef Christians. Christian principles have been the foundation upon which have been built the greatest achievements of the

among physicians but that one-seventh of a week spent in rest is an advantage. The man who by power of his brain or the service of his muscle contributes to the world's wealth of mind and matter gains greatly in strength and energy hy a proper observance of the Sabbath.

This old doctrine of an old book holds in its hands the life, the health, the virtue and the wisdom of the people who observe it. Civilization has made this a fundamental law and the experience of men has confirmed that law which God gave to his people. The leaders of human progress, the conspicuous statesmen are all on the side of the Christian church in demanding the proper observance of a day of rest. Adam Smith said: "The Sabbath as a political institution is of inestinable value, independent of this claim to divine authority." Daniel Webclaim to divine authority." Daniel Web-eter said: "The longer I live the more and the more grateful do I feel toward those who impress its importance upon the community." Blackstone adds his testimony: "A corruption of morals usually follows the profanation of the Sabbath." There is no question but that this phase of Christian citizenship needs to be emphasized.

The experience of Theodore Roosevelt and his colleagues of the New York police. and his colleagues of the New York police board has indicated that public opinion is not unanimously in favor of Sunday laws. This is partly accounted for teause people are not educated to realize the advantage of such a law, and because of the introduction of the continental Sabbath by a class of foreigners who have not yet begun to appreciate the spirit of our American institutions.

There is the evil of a too strict obser-There is the evil of a too strict observance of the day. A lady in Edinburgh was walking on the street one Sunday morning with her pet dog, when the ani-mal strayed from her and seeing a man mal strayed from her and seeing a man who was very drunk she asked him if he would be kind enough to whistle for the dog. "Madam, I am ashamed of ye, to ask a decent body like me to violate the holy Sabbath day by whistling." If we demand too stringent laws we shall not be apt to meet with the desired result in educating the people to appreciate the advantages of a day of rest. On the other hand we are in danger of having forced upon us the continental Sabbath. orced upon us the continental Sahbath In Chicago and other cities one may see the disadvantage of such an institution. Here one may see the theaters in full blast, and the lower and more degrading the exhibition the more conspleuous it makes itself. The dime museums fill the streets with their painted and realistic atrocities. The gin shops and the haunts of evil advertise profusely, and those things which minister to the lowest Sunday laws is certainly for the advantage of society.

The essential principle of one day in seven for rest is subscryient to the question of what day should be kept. But we believe that one day of rest and a law demanding such is essential for the good especially of those who are too weak and indifferent to demand this right for them-If there is any one class of men it will benefit more than another it is the working class, for unless they awaken to rea-They should be people who can grasp and carry out the topics of the meetings. A general discussion of this subject followed, in which different methods of committee work were brought out and discussed. Some had their committee, appointed by a nominating committee, others by the president. Asked what sort of members were appointed, a prompt answer came "the best in the society."

Others advised putting a small proportion of new members upon the committee. Meetings were held in homes came before these New York commissioners was a great one and the law has acted upon the saloon keepers like a boomerang; for these faithful officers have enforced the laws against the rich saloon keeper and the poor one, and compelled the police to arrest every violator without fear or favor. And Theodore Roosevelt declares that the liquor dealers association admitted that "ninetenths of the liquor dealers had been rendealers association admitted that innetents of the liquor dealers had been rendered bankrupt because we had stopped that illegal trade which gave them the best portion of their revenue." He continued, "we have conquered, we have not stopped all Sunday drinking in the release than we have stopped saloons, any more than we have stopped all theft, but we have succeeded in securing the partial closing of the saloons on Sunday." The moral reformation given impulse by Dr. C. H. Parkhurst which resulted in the overthrow of Tammany Hall and the rigid enforcement. many Hall and the rigid enforcement of the laws has taught Christian citizens that they are a more important force than they have ever realized themselves pation in politics are many. It means that right laws will be made, that they will be more impartial, that they will be in favor of the weakest, that they will be above all for the general moral good of the community. Our laws will be very largely like the character of those who make them. If a Christian forms a law make them. If a Christian forms a law it will be more apt to be a Christian law. The proper enforcement of laws concerning a day of rest will not be brought about until Christians are prominent in the establishment of such laws, until Christians awaken to their responsibility and believe that as they are governed by the principles of Christ it is their duty to work out these principles for the good of their fellow men. And so as Christian eftizens we believe the Sabbath a divine institution. We believe it a boon to the workingman, a blessing to all of every class. We believe a man is better, that "the marshaling of the conscience of a nation to mould its laws." It was agliation that brought about the American revolution. Samuel Adams and John revolution. Samuel Adams and John Hancock were agitators rather than politicians. The campaign of the century against slavery was won before the war began by the education of the public conscience by such men as Wendell Phillips and William Lloyd Garrison. As Christian citizens these and all other moral questions must be kept before the people by the Avitation is the weapon of a duestions must be kept before the progression by us. Agitation is the weapon of a patriot, it is a power greater than the power of the sword. The marshaling of the conscionce of a nation means immortal victory in behalf of righteousness.

Sabbath but the Sabbath for man," and because we believe this we shall continue to agitate the question and believe that if it is right it will conquer, and we believe it to be right. Let us be hopeful and faithful as Whittier sang:

A great general, when asked where his breastworks were pointed to his soldiers drawn up in line and replied: "There, and every one of them is a brick." America, nay the world may point to the young Christians found in Christian Endeavor, Epworth league and B. Y. P. U. societies and say, with like pride, every one of them is a "lively stone" built upon the only foundation, Christ Jesus. Some petty, pessimistic, pitiable doubters have looked at this great movement "for Christ and the Church" and said: Enthusiasm, youth, froth! It won't last. This suggests a story. Two English workingmen saw for the first time a locomotive. John said: "Bill, they say that thing goes."

Bill replied: "Don't you believe it,
John?" "That thing will never go."
Just then the engineer opened the throttle and the engine sped along the track. Bill looked at the swiftly departing engine and then at John, with open yes and mouth, and shouted: "John, that thing will never stop." When the ocomotive returned, Bill climbed up into the cab and examined it, and then said: 'John, I will tell you what makes it go, it's the fire inside of it." Those who ried out a few years ago that Christian Endeavor would not go along the rails of evangelization of the world. Interenominationalism, missionary extension and Christian citizenship are now saying: "It will never stop." 2,500,000 Endeavorers in the world, 202,000 won to Christ last year by Endeavorers! $425,000 given to missions last year, an increase f 500,000 in the world this past year! But let us remember that it is the fire inside that makes it go-the fire of the oly spirit. The locomotive is cold and useless, the engineer powerless, the coal, hard and black, a plaything for a child, but when the fire is added, then comes power. "Without Me ye can do nothing," says Christ. "It is not by power nor by might, but by My spirit, saith the Lord." Our growth numerically is only a snare, if we depend upon that! Dr. Clark said in his annual address this ear: "Christian is to stand until a l'ammany in America is forevermore an

SUNDAY'S SESSIONS.

Sunday morning devotional exercises were held at the High School from 8:30 to 10 o'clock, at which time the delegates separated to go to the various services in different churches. "MISSIONS." At 2 p. m., the afternoon meeting at the High School began with a praise of Duluth. Mrs. C. C. Tobey, of Sauk Center, then read an interesting paper Center, then read an interesting paper on "Missions," as follows:

Our outlook depends upon our point of observation. I stand today upon the threshold of a beautiful home—Christ's church—the Christians home on earth. Within this home everything is fair and bright, the furnishings are costly and elegant, the members are clad in raiment soft and fine. Everything glitters with dazzling splendor. I see no pinched faces, no shivering forms. There is nothing lacking for comfort or pleasure. I look out into God's beautiful world, around and about this home, and I see stretching far as the eye can reach a vast held of growing grain. On the nearer edges I see some grain cut. A few sheaves lay ready bound, some are gathered into shocks. I see even a few stacks all ready for the threshing. Farther out I can see places where work has been done and is still being carried on, for here and there I can see lonely laborers who seem almost to give up so Walliar; Superior street and Sixth the planes of a right seeight, but they have a first respect for a right seeight, but they have a right seeight seed and seed of the se THE DULTH EVENING HEREADY, OCTOBER 24, 1826.

And no churches will gain more from the new benevolence than the small fron-tier ones. It may not bring them more nelp from the Home Missionary On the contrary it may bring them less. But there will be a distinct gain in the enlargement of their field. The most enlargement of their field. The most trying feature of a small church is its smallness. The people say: "We are in a small town, we can only pay a small salary, and we have to divide the field with several others. So what's the use." Those who take a more encouraging view of the situation look to the building of a sawmill, or the locating of railroad shops to improve the outlook. A better and far surer way is to annex the world through benevolence. The Lord says to all his churches and especially to those struggling in small places: "The field is the world." Why should we not enter into the inspiration of this fact, and consider that when we by our gifts assist sider that when we by our gifts assist the labors of home and foreign missionaries we are entitled to claim their work as our own, and to be as proud of it as any conquest we may make on the local field. There is nothing fanciful in this thereby

Under the statistical forms of the new benevolence they will be described as follows: Membership, 24; salary, $100; field, apparently West Dora, but really the world. If it rusts from non-use what can we do with it, what is it good for? The arm that uses it diligently and vigorously will develop muscle and strength for more and heavier work. Our churches that are doing most for missions are the ones that look fairest and brightest to the eyes of our Master. I have tried to indicate what the new benevolence is. As for when its arrival is due let me just say in closing that it will be here when our Christian Endeavotrers make giving the most important work of their societies. May the Lord speed the

"SOUL WINNING." Rev. John Sinclair, of Redwood Falls, then read an address upon "Soul Winning," after expressing his gratitude for the hospitality he had met in a heartfelt manner. He said:

disciplined army, which he had trained for the purpose of taking Rome, halted his men when he reached the Rubico and lingered long on the northern banks of the stream. To pass it was to declare war against the Roman republic. At last he shouted: "The die is cast," threw himself into the river, swam across and was followed by his stalwart men. In a few days Rome, the Mistress of the World, lay at his feet and Caesar was the emperor of the whole civilized globe. Christian Endeavorers, in the religious world during the last few years, more than anything else, reminded him of that march of Caesar's. The religious youth of America had already crossed the Rubicon of timidity and its serried ranks were marching on the capitol of the enemy. Caesar's men were clad in complete war accoutrements, without whic they could not have taken Rome. If it would level the battlements of sin, Christian Endeavor needed to be clad in the whole armor of God. If it would win others and bring them into the ranks of the King of Kings, the armor must be complete. It was not too great an astian home and live there in the midst of the blackness of heathendom. I know of several couples who have done this and they are now well known and successful in the countries in which they live.

"The next best thing, if they don't go as two halves of a whole, let them go as two halves of a whole, let them together, as many have gone. I won't speak of young men going alone, for it is their fault if they cannot find a better half.

"The first step in the home training is to take Matt, xxii, 19-20, put it on a large card, hang it up in the meeting room, and pray that the Lord may teach you all that it means. Do this once a month and you will find a flame of fire leaping up in your hearts the like of which you never felt before.

say at a presbytery meeting, two weeks ago, that an aggressive church meant a church in which every one of its members was aggressive. There was too much leaning on one another for taking he first step. Let any one member, Caesar-like, strike out and others would apidly follow.

It might be there were young men in the ranks of Christian Endeavor who were not prepared to accept the church doctrine of the Person of Christ. The advice of Dr. Marcus Dods to such a man was: "Lay yourself alongside Christ for six months, imbibe His spirit from the gospels, and before the six months are done you will believe with your whole being that He is none else than the Son of God and a living Person who fulfills His promise with His peoole always."

A strange command was given Christ after His resurrection when He said to the women: "Tell My disciples that they go into Gallile. There shall they see Me." It is added: "They went into the place where Jesus had appointed them." There they got from Him the two greatest promises of the Bible, the promise of His power and of His presence. They enjoyed while receiving these promises His personal presence. If Endeavorers during the week and on the towed along by them all the time. That Lord's day were in Jesus' appointed places, living out the Endeavor pledge which they had solemnly made to their Lord, they would have His power for broke what would the end be? Only a work and His presence for joy. CHRIST IN THE LIPS. What was the secret of the unparal-

eled success of Christian Endeavor work? It was answered in few words; the Bible and prayer. The youth of the world pledging itself to pray and read the Bible every day had thereby developed a power already which was beng markedly felt throughout society, which corrupt political institutions were beginning to dread. But in twenty-five years after this he predicted there would e fewer of these institutions to raise an alarm cry, for by that time, according to the present ratio in which Christian Endeavor members were multiplying, poli tics, business and social affairs, as wel as things more purely spiritual, would ance with the word of God and prayer. The responsive reading of the word o God at that convention, in the lips of such a large number of delegates, was an nspiring sound. The Lord's prayer in he lips of the convention was more inspiring. What produced those feelings Wonderful it would have been if such feelings had not been produced, for in eading, delegates had taken into their lips the direct message of God to man, while in offering the Lord's prayer, they had taken into their lips the specific message of man to God. The systematic reading and systematic prayer in the lips of millions of the youth of the country was now exercising an influence the depth of which could not be fathomed. He remembered some years ago discussing with a minister the subject of early religious impressions. That minister had said: "Though it is twenty years since, I can remember well a sermon that Dr. Wright preached in my father's pulpit." The question was asked: "What did Dr. Wright say that impressed you so much?" "Oh, I don't Joyous as well as the most liberal way to give.

The crowning joy, however, will come to this pastor when the 10-cent man, of whom I speak, is converted, and changes from a 10-cent basis to a 10 per cent basis. If I have rightly estimated that man's income the next collection in his church will be about $50 greater than any before.

Thursday and Friday passed and Saturday brought the tidings that the mail steamer Umbria was lying disabled in the Atlantic. COLLEGE ALUMNAE MEET.
Cleveland, Oct. 25.—The annual convention of the association of collegiate alumnae began here today. An address of welcome was delivered by Miss Emma M. Perkins, president of the Ohio branch. Mrs. Martha Foote Crowe, of Chicago, president of the association, responded, after which the annual reports of the treasurer, Mrs. Mary Roberts Smith, of Leland Stanford University, of California, was read, followed by the reports of the various state directors. Miss Mary E. Adams, of Cleveland, read a paper on "The Local Work of Alumnae," after which the committee on the proposed amendments to the constitution reported. Miss Laura D. Gill, of Northampton, Mass, read a paper on "The New Opportunities for Women in the Universities of Germany."

Indight they reached the outskirts of Pekin.

AFTER THE MURDERERS.
Omaha, Oct. 25.—Sioux City officials are here to arrest Gallagher and Chapin, two members of the notorious McCarthy gang. They are wanted for the murder of Max Nowak and Harel Hamilton at that city some time since. The crime was very mysterious. The officers claim to have strong evidence of their guilt.

TO PROTECT MISSIONARIES Constantinople, Oct. 25.—The United States man-of-war Marblehead has arrived at Mersina, Asia Minor, to protect the missionaries of that district.

LICENSE DISCRIMINATION.

London, Oct. 25.—The county council today granted unconditional licenses to the Empire and Alhambra theaters and refused the Palace theater a promenade license.

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 25.-One of the results of the great gathering of Western men here in attendance at the waterways An Eye Witness Details the convention has been the organization of the Vicksburg National Military Park association, whose charter is now in course of preparation, and whose incorporators are such men as Gen. nine years, now earnestly remonstrated against these encroachments, and plaimed the Essequibo river as the rightful boundary. No immediate attention was paid to this. But some twelve months afterward, the British representative at Caracas gave notice that one Sir Robert Schomburgh had been commissioned to "survey and mark out the boundaries of British Gunyana." The assent and concurrence of Venezuela was not asked. A few months later when there had been some New informal conferences on the subject, the British reresentative informed the Venezuelan minister of foreign affairs that the Demarara colonial government had been instructed from London to resist, by force if necessary, any aggressions on the territories of the Guayanas occupied by the independent tribes of Indians.

ROBERT DOWNING. Robert Downing will open his engagement next Monday evening at the Ly ceum with a grand production of a romantic play that has met with the greatest approval from the public in the East, and which at the hands of the severest critics has received only highest praise. Victorien Sardou's romance 'Helena," will be the play, and it is said to be the masterpiece of this great French writer, whose stories are so often historically beautiful, and whose facile pen has done so much to perpetuate the history of nations long gone. Mr. Downing plays the part of a warring chief, and his magnificent physique. his strong voice and his grace become him in it and invest it with a naturalness that makes the play almost seem | an actuality. He is supported by Miss the food is perfectly and promptl Eugenie Blair in the title role and a strong company. The production is new, and the scenery, stage settings and costuming the most elaborate of anything which Mr. Downing has ever given to the public. The engagement will close on Tuesday evening with Saumet's sublime tragedy, "The Gladiator." At the popular price matinee on Tuesday "Othello" will be played.

A CUBAN NAVY.

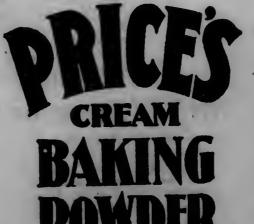

Minneapolis, Oct. 25.-The member o the Cuban junta now in the Northwest oday declared that there was a secret compact, between Spain and England which accounted for the seizures of filioustering expeditions in the Bahama islands, by which Spain is to turn over sia De Pines, at the southwestern end f Cuba, to England in return for Engand's promise to prevent the fitting ou of expeditions from her West Indian dependencies. The Isia De Pines would give England an immense valuable naval station, commanding the only channel to the Nicaraguan canal not now controlled

He also asserts that Cuba will soon have a modern navy of five vessels under command of Admiral De Gama the Brazilian sailor. Two ships are to come from Brazil and one from Chili. He admits that an effort is soon to be made to float an issue of $20,000,000 o Cuban bonds.

The first thought of a fortent of the propear which ply between the ports of Morocco and Spain. As you near the coast you see in front of you are high the water, just as you are. The first thought of an ice-berg. The white mass, glittering in the sun and rendered more dazzling by the blue sea and sky, looks exactly like a monster ice mountain, partly melted, so that the outlines of castles and hills appear upon it; but only for a second does the illusion last, for you know there are no icebergs in that part and you are quickly informed that you are looking at Cadiz. No other town in the world presents such a magic appearance.

DRILLING A FLEET.

Way in Which the English Navy is Trained.

The drilling of a fleet is a fascinating spectacle, suggesting as nothing else can the subordination of great force to the control of a single will. A few gayly colored flags flutter to the main truck of itself will bring a large number of outsiders and if some additional attractions were provided the attendance would be Instantly the huge ships begin to turn. Instantly the huge ships begin to turn, to sweep around in great curves and to rearrange themselves in a new formation, says the London Times. Or scattered cruisers nearly hull down on the horizon cruisers nearly hull down on the horizon respond to a summons, and in half an hour come flying back to the fleet, take up their appointed stations and conform to its movements. The ease with which the 14,000-ton battleships swing round to their helms, the speed with which they take up their new stations, the quick response and the regularity of movement are extraordinarily impressive.

For a shore-going parallel to this fleet one must imagine twenty-one cavalry regiments maneuvering at a canter, each individually responsive to orders rapidly transmissible over long distances. But on shore it would be impossible, except from a balloon or a commanding hill, to take in the movements at a glance. At sea one can follow the evolutions of each ship. A mistake, a loss or gain of distance, a superfluous or an inadequate turn is immediately seen, and such signals as "retaliation badly executed" quickly fly from the flagship to be read by the whole fleet.

Unquestionably, an admiral wields a power for which a general cannot hope. A public rebuke is a thing to be avoided, and even if this is not forthcoming any small lapse will be noted by a hundred pairs of eager eyes. Moreover, a comparatively small mistake may involve disaster. We may club our cavalry without real harm, but the eontact of two of these great ships moving at ten knots

CLATTON, NEVADA Co., ARK., Jan. 28, 1995. EUREKA CHEMICAL & MFG. CO., La Grosse, Wis.: Gentlemen:—For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For forty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Coro" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition. Yours respectfully,

A woman of Old Orchard, Me., has succeeded in making quite a pet of a humming bird. The little creature has become perfectly domesticated, and has been allowed to fiy in and out of the house at pleasure by a window that has purposely been left open for it. It is a household pet. By night it perches on a piece of clothes line strung in the kitchen, and on rainy days flutters about among the plants and flowers in the house.

Indian courts have to decide queer questions. The Buddhists of Japan presented an image to the great temple of Buddha at Gaya. The Hindoos objected to the acceptance of the present, especially the abbot of a Sivaite monastery near by, who claimed, under a decree 400 years old, the right to determine what should go into the temple. A mobbroke into the temple and carried off the image. Some of the rioters were fined, but appealed to the supreme court at Calcutta, which has just decided in their favor, having ascertained that the abbot's claim was legal. The decision

The body of the captain was buried on the following day and the boatswain assumed command of the ship. But the vessel might as well have been without a compass there being no one left who understood navigation. For weeks the ship drifted about aimlessly in the ocean, the men being without the slightest knowledge of their whereabouts. The steamer Taglia Ferro was finally sighted and a signal of distress was raised. The captain of the steamer lowered a boat and sent the second mate to the vessel. COMMERCIAL OUTLOOK. Weekly Reports From the Leading Agencies.

New York, Oct. 26.-R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade today says: Ten days ago exports seemed very near, but the break in cotton, which then began, copened on Monday into a collapse sufficient to justify the hope of free move ment. Hides have also dropped sharply at Chicago and leather is weaker, and the adjustment of prices to real instead imaginary conditions progresses rapidly Already lower prices in iron have brought out some important contracts. Money markets cause remakably little trouble. Cooler weather has generally elped retail trade and with Sales of cotton goods have been helped by favorable weather and Eastern as well as Southern mills ar well sold up.

Exports of wheat (flour included) from both coasts this week, plus shipments from Montreal, show an increase over the due to increased exports from the Pacific coast. The total this week is 2,658,000 bushels; in the week a year ago it was ,353,000; two years ago, 3,320,000.

AT THE MESABA MINES. Lease of the North Cincinnati

Has Changed Hands. The Mesaba Range says that the lease of the North Cincinnati mine which was Corrigan, McKinney & Co., was sold some time ago to Messrs. Ridgely & Stuart, of Pittsburg, who will operate the mine in future. These gentlemen are members of the Pittsburg Iron and Steel company. one of the strongest concerns in the East. The program for this winter's work is yet unknown.

Nothing is being done at the North Cincinnati and Capt. Pearce is waiting for orders from the new comers. It is altogether probable, however, that the mine will be operated and the ore placed in stock pile during the winter months. The Cincinnati mine has felt the effects of high lake rates less than many others, time has been lost and from 300 to 400 tons are now being loaded Jaily. About eighty men are now employed. A cargo of 5000 tons left the Two Harbors dock dicates that the ore was sold at good Capt. HE BROKE THE BANK.

A local sport named Salazar walked into the gambling rooms of the Cautina del Teatro at the commencement of play the other afternoon, says the Mexican Heriald. The first hand at monte was being dealt. Laying down what appeared to be a ten-dollar bill with $i in silver on the top of it on the "siete de bastos," he calmly awaited the result of the draw. The card won, and on the dealer proceeding to open the ten-dollar bill he was surprised to find neatly folded inside two one thousand-dollar bills. The sport had won $2014, which was promptly paid, although it took the whole bank and $14 more to do it. The lucky gambler rolled a cigarette in the customary Mexican nonchalant manner, and, bowing politely to the croupiers, left the room, leaving to the croupiers, left the room, leaving those gentry staring wacantly at the waste of green cloth in front of them and wondering what was the best thing to do.

SUGGESTION REJECTED.

Lord Salisbury for an alliance for the building of the Nicaraguan canal, and the direction of South and Central American affairs. It is understood that the suggestion did not come in a way to require a formal reply. The proposition was this—that Great Britain would be satisfied if this country would permit her, without this country would permit her, without interference on our part, to take possessien by force of all the territory she claims from Venezuela, and would agree to the joint construction and ownership of the Nicaraguan canal. She would then pledge herself not to seek the acquisition of any more territory on this continent and would recognize and join us in enforcing the Monroe doctrine.

It was represented that the govern ments of South and Central America were irresponsible and did not afford proper protection to foreigners and foreign interests, and that Great Britain and the United States should join in compelling proper respect to the citizens or subjects and the interests of the United States and and the interests of the United States and They were ordered to give bonds in th Great Britain; one country or both to maintain a naval force in the vicinity t protect the interests of citizens of either

THAT CONGRESSIONAL RUMOR

A letter from Senator Allen, of Carlton county, to The Herald is published n this issue. The senator denies em phatically the story recently started by the Minneapolis Journal, and repeated by the News Tribune of this city with misleading and false headlines, tha he is likely to be a candidate for the Republican icongressional nomination in this district next year. Mr. Allen leaves no room for doubt as to his meaning and explains his position so clearly that it cannot be misunderstood. He is not a candidate and would not under any circumstances become a candidate. His business interests could not permit him to go to congress if he would, and for other reasons he would not if he could. He agrees with The Herald that any talk of Republican opposition to Mr. Towne's renomination is premature, and that the people of the Sixth district should reserve judgment in regard to Mr. Towne until at least he has served out his present

In this connection it may be well to say alfew words that will calm the ruffled feelings of the Elk River Star-News and the Little Falls Transcript, which appear to be unnecessarily excited over the recent statement by The Herald that no gold monometallist could be elected by the Republican party in this district. It is not astonishing that this statement should have aroused the ire of Editor Fuller, of the Transcript, who is said to have an itching to go to congress in succession to Mr. Towne and whose repeated attacks upon bimetallism have demonstrated that he is an ardent admirer of the single gold standard. It is rather surprising, however, that such a fairminded man as Editor Dare, of the Star-News, should construe The Herald's statement into a threat that, if Mr. Towne should not be renominated next year and a gold monometallist should he chosen as the Republican candidate. the friends of Mr. Townc would defeat

The Herald made no such threat. It does not presume to speak for Mr. not know. What was stated in these district, and The Herald believes this is true. It is also certain that the Republican candidate for congress next year. if opposed to bimetallism, could not be elected. This is a plain statement of The Herald's belief on this point and it implies no threat whatever. If the Star-News and other papers throughout the district would always remember. that The Herald is not a Republican organ, but is a strictly independent newspaper, and that it does not support Mr. Towne's views on any question because he is a Republican, they would not jump to so many unwarrantable conclusions.

TO RAISE REVENUE.

It is stated that there was a very important meeting in New York the other day, the details of which have just come to the knowledge of some of the politicians in Washington. It seems that ex-Senator Platt, ex-Speaker Reed, Sereno E. Payne, member of congress from Auburn, N. Y., and a number of other country. If the inspection is too rigid, prominent Republicans, met in the Fifth however, it should be changed. VAN SANT AND EVANS.

According to the Minneapolis Journal, the politicians in Hennepin county predict that before long Capt. S. R. Van Sant will release R. G. Evans from his pledge not to be a candidate for governor and tell him to come into the fight and win if he can. The Journal says that the fact that such a pledge was secured from Mr. Evans months ago, when there was no likelihood that he would want to be a candidate, and when there was no sentiment in the state favoring him, and that he is now being held to it with an lron hand, is not helping the Van Sant cept snow near Lake Superior; southwest cause in Hennepin county, where Mr

The Winona Republican, which is un lerstood to be very closely in touch with Capt. Van Sant, says that is sheer stuff and buncombe; that Capt. Van Sant never exacted any pledge of Mr. Evans to support him as a candidate for governor; that Mr. Evans did pledge himself to Capt. Van Sant as against Mr Clough, the present acting governor and a prospective candidate for nomination and election to that office, but all this was voluntary on the part of Mr. Evans, and in no way does it compromise Capt,

As it appears, however, that the anti-Clough men in Hennepin county have arrived at the conclusion that Mr. Evan is the only man who can carry tha county against the present governor, and insist that Capt. Van Sant shall release him from his pledge, the Winona paper continues: "We do not know how far Mr. Evans regards his pledge to suppor Mr. Evans for any reason desires to be will in no way be restrained by Capt. Van Sant, who, however much he migh prize the gubernatorial nomination as a free-will gift of the Republican party o the state, will, we feel authorized to say, would reflect upon his honor as a mar This reads like a statement made by authority, and it is presumed that it was made with the consent and approval of Capt. Van Sant. While there is no formal release of the pledge of support given by Mr. Evans, it conveys the impression that Capt. Van Sant is not Capt. Van Sant must know that he cannot carry Hennepin county against Governor Clough, and his chances of getting the nomination would be improved by the governor being defeated in the Hennepin county convention.

It seems to be all the rage now to organize choral societies. Duluth now has three. The West Duluth society with Professor Custance at the head was organized some time ago and has already rehearsed.

On Tuesday evening the Mozart society came into definite existence. It proposes to have a choral society and an orchestra.

isolated data and principles of the country's financial history, and the doctrines of the silver propaganda were annealed into one coherent, logical, impregnable argument for bimetallism, and introduced into nearly every home in the civilized world. The erstwhile unknown, Mr. Harvey, leaped into fame. He was assailed from all sides by the agents and organs of plutocracy. Congressman Roswell G. Horr, an authority on finance, a glant in debate, was sent to Chicago to vanquish the apostle of financial heresy. After a ten days' joint debate Mr. Horr returned to his constituents with disheveled hair and broken lance. Later Mr. Harvey met and vanquished in debate Professor Laughlin, of Roclefeller's institution, the Chicago University. THE STARS.

The following lines were written by Mr. Hale but a short time before his death, which occurred at Roxbury, Oct. 6, 1895. Mr. Hale was the youngest son of Rev. Edward Everett Hale, and was graduated from Harvard in 1891:

I lay at my ease in my little boat,
Fast moored to the shore of the pond,
And looked up through the trees that swayed in the breeze
At God's own sky beyond. And I thought of the want and the sin in the world.

And the pain and the grief they bring.

And I marveled at God for spreading abroad

Such sorrow and suffering. Evening came creeping over the earth.

And the sky grew dim and gray

And faded from sight; and I grumbled

at night

For stealing my sky away.

Then out of the dark just the speck of of a face
Peeped forth from its window bars;
And I laughed to see it smile at me;
I had not thought of the stars!

There are millions of loving thoughts and

All ripe for awakening.
That never would start from the world's cold heart
But for sorrow and suffering.

cold,
And the day was warm and fine;
And yet if the day never faded away
The stars would never shine!

P. so long out of practice that an explanation will probably be necessary. When a struck jury is demanded the sheriff draws a large list of talesmen aside from the regular venire to serve upon cases in which the system is demanded.

When the case is called the attorneys strike a name off the list alternately until but twelve are left and these strike a name off the list alternately twelve hear the ease. The system is very popular with corporations, and they are said to manage to procure at least a disagreement in a great many cases by its use. Hence in damage cases they almost invariably demand a struck jury.

The system has been in use since the re-enactment of the law in the

Twin Cities, and it is said that one large corporation in Minneapolis has not ost a damage case since it went in. MENDENHALL WANTS ONE. The first demand for a struck jury was filed in district court this morning by the defendant in the Mendenhall divorce case, and that case will be tried at the coming term of court in that manner.

The debating classes met as usual on Monday and discussed the question, "Is at's p. m. it to the interests of the United States to annex Cuba?" Wordy weapons flew thick and fast between the combatants. each side holding its own in a spirited manner, but a vote being taken the score was found to stand 104 points against 100 in favor of the negative side. Many good arguments were brought forward on each side. The chief objections which the speakers on the negative side brought up were that the Cubans, being of an entirely different character from the Americans, the union of the two peoples could never be satisfactorily accomplished; that the United States could never obtain revenues from Cuba sufficient to offset the island's debt; that it would destroy the friendly relations between the United States and Spain, and that the possession of Cuba would destroy many ndustries in the United States proper. In two weeks, instead of the regular debate, the class will have a parliamentary drill, at which one of the pupils will be asked to preside and straighten out all knotty questions of parliamentary law placed before him. "A Texas Steer" and Tim Murphy at the Lyceum Last Night.

The announcement of the coming of the young American tragedian, Robert Downing, to the Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday next will be received with pleasure by the lovers of the legitimate lrama, and more especially as Mr Downing will present for the first time in this city his latest success, "Helena," a charming romantic drama from the pen of the greatest of French dramatists, Victorien Sardou. This play had its first English production at the Grand Opera house in Washington, D. C., a few weeks ago, scoring immediate success. The critics of that city being unanimous in their verdict that "Helena," from a sectacular standpoint, is

In Orso, the chief of the Guelphs, Mr. Downing has found a part that is most congenial with his abilities as a robust actor and one that fits him as heroines of plays of the classic order, but never yet has she been seen in a part which requires so much strength, power and dramatic ability as "Helena." In every city in the East where "Helena" has been given the critics have given Miss Blair the highest praise and declare she has made the hit of her life in the part. As to the mounting of the play, Mr.

Downing has spared nothing, and "Helena" will rank with any of the great spectacular productions of late years. Every scene has been gotten up specially from photographs taken on the spot where the story of the play is laid, and painted by the best artists to be procured in this country. The costumes are said to be most elaborate, and the dresses worn by Miss Blair are said to have never been equalled in any stage Knott Innit, Olney Griffin as Othello, production in the country. On Tuesday evening Mr. Downing will play "The Gladiator." This is one of sang well, and their voices blended the best plays in Robert Downing's pleasingly. "A Texas Steer" will be rerepertoire and is presented this season on a scale of grandeur that has painted for it from original paintings in the leading continental galleries, among them being the famous scene of the catacombs under the ancient city of Rome, another being the great arena where the heroic combats were fought, and a third the grand palace of Nero. The play has been complete-Iv costumed in the same scale of magnificence that characterizes all of Mr.

Downing's productions. On Tuesday afternoon there will be a popular priced matinee and Mr. Downsupported by the beautiful and talented numbers, but as a whole his score is the house again. The libretto is generally spoken of as one of the very brightest ever heard in burlesque or anywhere else. ever heard in burlesque or anywhere else. The majority of the musical numbers are operas which hold the stage. The scenery of the buriesque is elaborate in the extreme. Magnificent transformations, gorgeous pictures and won-derful mechanical effects combine to lift "Little Robinson Crusoe" and it to the highest round of scenic beauty. The costumes, too, so the papers say, are of the most artistic design, and compose an ensemble of royal harmony.

Every dress is from a special design. The famous tale has been much modernized by Mr. Smith. The opening of the play is laid in the quays at Hull. The second act unfolds a picture of a line of battleships of the design of 200 years ago. They are afloat on the high seas. A storm bursts and shatters them until they sink beneath the waves, but Eddle Foy is saved by sailing away on the back of a shark. Then comes a picture of a tropical sand beach, with a forest of cocoanut trees. Act third takes the audience to the Cannibal island, where Crusoe spent years of his life. The play ends with a dazziing transformation scene, showing in a series of bewildering oictures the depths of the ocean. of a class that spread all over the old slave-holding states. Naturally, racing flourished, and you can judge for your; self if betting was not lively when self if betting was not lively when owners made matches at $20,000 a side. Col. Singleton, of South Carolina, and William R. Johnson, of Virginia, did that more than once. Singleton's entry was Clara Fisher, and he thought nothing on four hoofs had leave to beat her at four miles. Johnson had much the same opinion of his horse, Bonnets o' Blue, and when the mare beat him it was by such an evelagh that he never it was by such an eyelash that he never rested till the match was made over again, and in the last race Bonnets o' Blue came about as much ahead. Then the two owners went at each other again about other horses and got up matches to their heart's content. Johnson took every bet any man offered if the odds were 100 to 1. 'A mighty good bet, even if I lose it,' he said of such things. One day were the received such things. One day upon the race course there were but two entries for a race—a saucy, blood-like bay mare and a big, lumbering brown gelding that had a turn of speed and plenty of stay. But nobody wanted him at any price. It was merely a two mile race, only a dash for those days. The horse was clearly outclassed from the start. Still he hung on, and there was some derisive speculation as to by what marrisive speculation as to by what margin he would save his distance. As the pair of racers swung for the second mile some one in the crowd shouted: "'A hundred to one on the mare—200 to 1! Will anybody take even 300?"
"'I take you,' Johnson sald, elbowing his way to the other. Before the

The state had blue grass even more luxuriant than the famous Kentucky growth, and early settlers brought to it plenty of the best Virginia as anybody, and didn't go beyond one racing strains. They brought, too, a mighty strict sense of turf honor. Almost at the start their jockey club blackballed old Henry Clay-not the statesman, but the Virginia turfman of that name-for shipping in a famous fourmiler as an untried mountain colt, and winning about all the money on the track that day. But that is a mere side light on what Old Hickory did. With the rest he had most likely put his money on Quartermaster, and expected at least a anywhere without his valet, a smart soul-stirring run for it. But the morning of the race word came to him secretly that the favorite had been seen grazing for two hours in a wheat field the night before. He had horse sense enough to know that no racer could go four miles full of green, sweet, watery stuff, and you may be sure was in a great rage over

"In the settlement of the South the extremes of society bore about equal part. The poor whites went because it was and is their nature to be forever moving. The rich planters went because their slaves and children were outgrowing the capacity of the seaboard states, and they craved the expansion of a rich virgin wilderness. Reports of the Duluth Unions Indicate That Business is Improving.

Nearly All Branches of Trade Are Active and Wages Advance.

Resignation of City Organizer Nichols Tendered But Not Accepted.

No business of importance came up at the meeting of the Federated Trades assembly last night and the session was a short one. According to the unon reports the business situation is brightening. Nearly all branches of trade are active especially the electrical workers who reported that times and prospects were never better. Gus Olson announced that there are twenty five stonecutters in town all working and with plenty of work in sight. A few of the woodworkers have obtained a 10 per cent raise in wages. the given He made a short statement of the firm's side of the difficulty and expressed his willingness to arbitrate. The committee was continued and will aid the tailors in bringing about a City Organizer J. W. Nichols tendered his resignation, but it was not accept ed and Mr. Nichols was unable to shake off his robes of office. Then the labels of the tobacco workers union and the collar and cuff and shirtmakers union were endorsed unanimously.

and the representation of both unions will remain as they are. A committee consisting of Delegates Allen, Sturm and Belden was appointed to aid the West End clerks. James McDowell came armed with a number of petitions asking the council to have the Typographical union label on all city printing. These he distributed among the delegates to be taken back to the unions. The laundry drivers of the city to the number of about twenty have perfected an organization and elected delegates to the assembly which last night endorsed their application to the Federation of Labor for a charter. The laundry workers are also on the point of organization and will hold an open meeting for that purpose next Thursday evening at the G.'A. R. hall.

The assembly committee appointed to investigate the department stores is preparing an interesting report. In one store nearly all the boys employed are under 14 and the girls are paid the munificent sum of $3 per week.

The woodworkers are arranging for a dance to be held some time before Thanksgiving.

The idea of a workingmen's club house is growing in favor among the organized men and Delegates Harmon, McCallum, Anderson, Meagher and Johnson were last night appointed a committee to perfect plans.

E. R. Cobb, who is also a member of the board of education, read to the assembly last night a statement which he had prepared showing that largely through the efforts of the organized men every cent of the $456,580.16 spent by the board last year was spent in Statistics show that the num ber of pots in operation last week was per cent greater than in the correspond ing week a year ago, and the latter was above the average for activity. The volume of business in the plate glass industry is large enough to prevent any complaining, and is increasing in extent as the period of large distribution approaches. Prices are uniform and well maintained, due to the concentration of the larger part of producing interests in strong hands, and the jobbers are standing by their agreements in an effective manner. The flint glass trade is also of the up grade. The lamp chimney trade is steadily improving and the indications are that the factories will have all they can do in a few weeks. The table glass ware business is said to be attaining a good volume of business and many manufacturers feel that the true gait has at

The machinists are well organized and have a smaller number of unemployed members than any other association in the country.

NEW PAPER'S AIMS.
The Union Workman, a new labor paper, announces its position in the following salutatory: This paper has avoided declaring i This paper has avoided declaring its policy in so many set propositions, as is customary with newspapers just starting out in the world. It is not going to boast that it will fill "a long-felt want," or that it is going to undo all the evil which afflicts mankind and enthrone the good. It will contribute something to that end—how much remains to be seen. One thing it will promise: While it has an existence, be that for a short or long time it will never fail to exert its intime, it will never fail to exert its in-fluence to drive the money changers out of the labor movement. It will wage a ceaseless, unrelenting war on the men who work the workingmen, and work at nothing else. Every stiletto, every broadax, every dynamic force that lies hidden

Whenever an opening can be discovered in their armor of fraud and corruption a weapon will be driven into it. The trades unions of this city have been made a plaything of by them. They have so used the mane of trades unions in the furtherance of their nefarious money making schemes that many business men have come to consider these orness men have come to consider these or ganizations—so essential to the wage-vorker—as blackmailing institutions. Polworker—as blackmaning institutions. Fol-iticians deride them in secret, whereas they should fear them. They do not hesi-tate to say they can buy the leaders when they want them. This paper will try to make an end of this business. It will endeavor to make the trades unions of this city feared by their enemies and respected by all good citizens. This is part of its mission. The building up and part of its mission. The building up and strengthening of all legitimate trades un ons now in existence, encouraging the primation of unions in trades where now one exist, and the driving of the money hangers and deffiers from the temple of abor is a part of the policy of this paper. EASTERN STEAMFITTERS' STRIKE Three hundred steamfitters of Boston are still out on the strike which they inaugurated Sept. 1 for an eight-hour day and union wages. Every difference between them and their employers has resulted in all sorts of litigation. One of the chief things now being made capital of by the strikers is an injunction recently issued by Justice Dunbar restraining John J. CALL FOR CONVENTION. The call is out for the annual conve on of the United Garment Workers of America and is, in part, as follows: The fifth general convention will accordingly meet in the city of Baltimore, beginning Nov. 11, 1895, at 10 a. m. The minority report of the committee to settle the musician's muddle was signed by the balance of the committee and adopted by the assembly. The charges preferred against Union 6516 were found to be without foundation and the representation of both unions. The forthcoming convention promises t has been granted and district council Nos. 4, 5 and 6 have been chartered. is also worthy of note that some of the lapsed and suspended unions have been reorganized and reinstated, in cons quence of which there are few unions missing in our entire list of unions who have had charters granted. The many large and successful battle recently fought by unions against the fearful evils in the trade, with our little experience and undeveloped organization, is an indication of the possibilities of the national union. All our achieve of the national union. All our achieve-ments and growth necessitates many changes in the form of organization in order that it may be adapted to the greater field for work that has been opened. The best minds from among the membership are necessary for this task. Therefore it behooves every union en-titled to representation to be careful and select the most intelligent and experi-enced, and above all, trustworthy men, as delegates to the general convention. as delegates to the general convention, in order that their counsels may help to properly guide our future policy. Every mion should send as many delegates a it is entitled to and not practice any false economy in a matter upon which our future welfare so much depends.

OUTLOOK FOR TIN PLATE. We have recently received letters from a number of American tin plate manu-facturers commenting on the present situation in the domestic tin plate industry and its outlook, says the Metal Worker. The following extracts from them show that the opinions of the trade all tend in the same direction—namely, that the situation of tin plate manufacturers in this country at the present time, in view of the recent advance in the price of raw material, is by no means satisfactory, and that some change for the better. either through a reduction of the price of steel or in the direction of an advance in the prices, must develop if the in the plate prices, must develop if the works are to be maintained in operation on a paying basis. Another large firm in the same district asserts that us far as their business i concerned the prospects could not be much more serious than they are. There must be a very pronounced change in the price of steel or in the selling price of tin plates in the next six or eight weeks if their plant, for one, is to continue in operation.

One of the pioneer American tin plate manufacturers views a shut-down of the tin plate milis as a probability. He expresses the opinion that it is the purpos of the British manufacturers to take th fullest advantage of the situation in th American tin plate market to break down he tin plate industry here. He adds

"With the present high prices of ma-terial the American manufacturers are keeping their mills running only because they loaded up with stock when it was abnormally low. They will run until their stock is exhausted—no longer. At present the plate, which costs $7.50 to make in Pittsburg, can be delivered here from Great Britain for $7.12. TO AID AGED CRAFTSMEN. President George W. Perkins, of the Cigarmakers international union, has a unique plan for the benefit and employ ment of the old members of the craft has been supposed in the craft in th the shape of an international co-opera-tive shop. He thus expresses his plan In the Cigarmakers' Journal:

1s the man who has gone down to gray hairs and old age as a faithful un with opening international shops; in which the old fellows can work, with the privilege of earning a few dollars a week where he can at least keep warm in the winter months, and together live over the good old times that have passed into history? These shops could be conducted by the old fellows, who can do their own stripning, easing, making and calling the stripning cashing making and calling the stripning cashing the stripning the st stripping, casing, packing and sellin Thus they would feel that they had right to live without charity. They would be indebted to no one but the union which they would love and revere. Such a scheme holds out a hope for the fellow of any age as he journeys down the path-way of life. A man who has lived and grown old in a certain place does not care to be bundled off to some old men's removed from the scenes of his early life and old friends and family.

TOPIC FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 27. "Obedience to God: What Does It Involve?" Deut. viii, 1-20. By Arthur W Kelly in the Golden Rule.

Lately a high place in the army was to be vacant. A certain officer would naturally be promoted to fill it. Those opposed to him knew that he had a good record as a courageous and successful leader. The one charge that they thought the most damaging that they could make against him was that on a single occasion, years ago, he had disobeyed orders in one of the campaigns on which his reputation largely rested. A soldier's first duty, it is genilm, whatever their commands. So much turns on the result that he cannot be left to follow his own judgment. Personal omfort and safety do not enter into the question. When a man puts on a uniform, it is with a purpose to face death. God can ask of his servants no less than a general expects of those under him. God's orders do not always come directly. He has more ways of speaking

If God's ways are ways of wisdom, then there is no cause for us to worry about what will happen if we follow his clear leading. His leadership ensures success, A TALK ON THE TOPIC

By Rev. H. F. Shupe, of Dayton, Christian Endeavor: Obedience is an important word in the vocabulary of the Christian. That God attaches importance to it as a trait in his children is evident from the follows home his engine driver of the day, place he gives it in his teaching and providential training. Obedience was the one test of loyalty required of Adam, who was granted so much for his use and enjoyment, but was required to obey in one particular prohibition. By his disobedience he switched the race off the track on which it was intended to run, and upon the second Adam, the blessed Christ, devolved the mission of bringing the race back to the way of righteousness. From the be-ginning Christ heralded his purpose in the cry, "lo, I come to do thy will, O God," and in the end of his life he said, "Thy will, not mine, be done," while it is written of him, "He became obedcross." "To obey is better than sacrifice," will ever be the statement of the relative importance of the duties of service and sacrifice. A profession of religion, church attendance, participation n religious services, and liberality in spirit of obedience, and these things are valuable only as they constitute bedience to Christ. The Father has ordained that in the important relations of life-in the home, the church, and the state-obedience loyalty. He has also ordained that the recognition of authority, the disposition to be submissive, and the desire to please others, all of which are implied

n obedience, are productive of the best sults in the development of character. The person that has not had wrought into the very fibre of his being the habit obedience finds himself in danger of disregarding the anthority of law when it crosses his purposes, and of efusing to acknowledge the authority of God in directing his life. Anarchistic tendencies are likely to be manifest at ome time in the life of such a person. After the marvelons providential eadings and deliverances and chastenngs of the journey from Egypt to Canaan, and before the entrance into that promised land, the Lord repeats the commands he would have his people obey, utters again his warnings against disobedience. In the chapter constituting our lesson some of the things involved in obedience to God are taught 1. Obedience requires faith (Deut. viii,

To the Jews, who needed the flowing blood of the sacrifice to see the blood of the Redeemer, and the perfume of the incense that they might understand prayer, God promised the goodly land of Canaan, the description of which is given in language of great beauty Perhaps all men need the incentives of reward to induce them to live a life of obedience, and since God has seen fit to offer reward it is not an unworthy in sense it pays. 4. Disobedience is punished (Deut. vii 11-20). When the reward for obedience is prosperity, it has its dangers; for in prosperity we are liable to forget God and ot keep His commandments. Every con ented man, enjoying his prosperity should carefully consider the danger that exists when one has eaten and is full The New Testament is as emphatic as the old in its declarations that punish ment will follow disobedience. Christ closed the sermon on the mount with vivid pictures of the stability of the character built on doing the Word, and of the sudden collapse of the disobedient hearer of the Word. TOPIC THOUGHTS. Obey is from ob, to, towards, and udire, to hear. To listen attentively to God's voice is an important part of obedience. To the one that hears and obeys God will give a keener perception of His voice.

Obedience will settle doubt. "I find the doing of the will of God leaves me no erally recognized, is to obey these above time for disputing about His plans," says George MacDonald. Disobedience is anarchy. The disregard of rightful authority is the destruction of many a character. "The best thing that can befall a child is that he be conscious of authority," says Dr. Parkhurst.

A Jesuit Missionary Tells Some Anecdotes About Far Off Alaska.

A Mild Winter is Anything Less Than Sixty Below Zero.

New Use for Story Tellers---Race of People Very Superstitious.

Rev. Francis A. Barnum, a Jesuit missionary from the extreme west of Alaska for the past four years, is in Baltimore, Md., for a visit with relatives. In a long account which is taken from the Baltimore Sun, the reverend visitor talks entertainingly of that far

One of the questions in which Father Barnum is especially interested is the boundary between Alaska and British America, which just now is a live international issue and one of great moment to the residents of Alaska.

"The significance of the internationl dispute betwen Great Britain and the United States over this boundary line," said he, "is not understood no: appreciated in the states. "Great Britain's claim is based upon a new interpretation of the language of a treaty defining the boundaries o the Russian and British possessions i North America made in 1825. When the l'nited States purchased Alaska, 1867, the same language was used i defining the boundaries of .the purchase, and on all the maps issued by the American and British authorities until the year 1887 the same line of demarkation was followed. From that year the British maps changed, and the Canadian territory began to extend within the limits defined by the maps of our government. "The people of Alaska infer from this change that it was not until the value of this strip of land became appreciated by the Canadian people that Great Britain began to look about for some way in which it could gain possession

"Last winter the question took on new and more exciting aspect to the Alaskan residents by the appearance of a corps of Canadian surveyors, who began to mark off the new boundaries claimed by Great Britain right down through the center of Southeastern

> A while ago sixty-three persons, the entire population of a little island in the Pacific ocean, trooped down to the landing place, wild with joy and excitement. They saw a small steamer entering in through a gap in the coral reef that fringes their island, and moving slowly toward the wharf. The only horse on the island was hurriedly hitched into his cart and trotted away to the landing with all the children the vehicle could hold, to help honor the occasion. No wonder the fifteen families of Lord Howe island cheered and threw up their hats. It was the first time in half a year, says the Globe-Democrat, that they had heard from the outer world. forsaken, when the steamer

in the offing, bringing mails and supplies for the handful of people on this little rock in the blg ocean. It happened in this way. Though both islands shift for themselves the most of the time. Four times a year however, the mail schooner Mary Ogilvie has been sent out from Sydney to visit the oceanic outposts. On her last trip the schooner was totally wrecked on the precipitous coast of Norfolk island. It took some months for the news to reach Sydney, and the dispatch of another vessel, and so it happened that Lord Howe island was cut off from the rest of the world for half a year. The return of the Thetis with news of the islanders has brought the colonists of Lord Howe and Norfolk into prominent place in the columns of the Australian press. Lord Howe is one of the smallest inhabited islands of any ocean, and is handful of people. It is shaped exactly like a boomerang. It is eight miles long and from one and a half to two miles wide. Its basalt sides rise, in places, 3000 feet above the surface of the sea. It is nothing but a prodigious rock thrust into the air by plutonic forces; and one would think that people would be will-ing to scratch very hard for a living before they would isolate themselves in such a home.

But this half tropical island has extraordinary verdure and beauty. A reporter of one of the Sydney papers who was sent out on the Thetis says he never saw anything so picturesque as those towering mountains, dotted here and there with the little white cottages of the fifteen families who stood cheering at the water edge. Strange to relate, one of the largest buildings is the prison, and it would be the most useless building on the island if it were not utilized as a general store house. It has not held a prisoner since 1869, when an American was killed in a fight over a woman. Next door to the prison is the school house, and this contiguity, under the circumstances, is not so very objectionable. Here the widow of Capt. Cavage was leading seventeen little folks along the path of knowledge, when the cry was raised, "A ship at last," and school was dismissed without any ceremony. But the people of the little Island are not very happy, and they blame New South Wales for it. The island has never been surveyed, and the people are not yet permitted to hold land in severalty. The young folks tire of the isolated life, and most of them emigrate to the mainland. Over 400 of them have left their native isle, and this is the reason why Lord Howe island, though white families have lived there for more than fifty years, has a poulation of only sixty-three. But the humble people have among them, and most of them dle of camphor. The all-pervading grip, how-ever, struck them a couple of years ago, casting a gloom over the community. They raise plenty to eat, but they are very poor because they export so little. A few years ago the cucumbers of Lord ness or profaulty on the island, but for

This little community has the ordering of most of its affairs, and its history today is as unique as its beginning was remarkable. Fancy a civilized society that pays no taxes and yet has paid officials. This is because the Norfolk islanders have money in the bank in the community name. Years ago the Melanesian missions acquired land on the island for their headquarters by the payment of $25,000. This sum was added to $15,000, the part due to the Norfolk islanders of the "Pitcairn fund," raised in England. The $40,000 was invested in Sydney, and the interest pays the very modest salaries of the chief magistrate, the two councillors who assist him in public affairs, the pastor, the doctor and all other expenses of the public service, except that each male adult has to give to the community nine days' work a year for road making and other public purposes. Every child between the ages of 6 and 14 must be sent to school, and their parents are fined 6d a day for every day they are absent without good excuse. Beer, wine and other spiritu ous liquors, may be landed on the is-land only for medicinal purposes, and the smallest fine for intoxication is $10 which is a small fortune in that neigh borhood. Indulging in profane or of scene language or bearing false wit penalty. The people are most hospit able, but the man who seeks to make a home among them will meet a chil ing reception and make a speedy exit their blessings. There isn't a physician is his character does not inspire confi dence. Their chief holiday, excepting old age. Their medicine chest contains Christmas, is the anniversary of the only one specific for all ills, and that is landing of the mutineers on Pitcairn island. These good and simple people have made an interesting chapter in history. It begins with the story of one of the most terrible crimes of the sea. Every one of their fathers was a murderer and would have been hanged Howe island were more highly prized in if he had been caught. A DINNER GOWN. Mrs. Vanderbilt's friends say that i is undoubtedly to be a splendid affair in white lace, knowing her great love of this fabric, and that for the trousseau have been ordered two beautiful white lace ball gowns. Indeed, the bride-to-be has a marked love of white and the tint next in her favor is a pe culiar tone of golden pink. Chief among the wardrobe glories is a dinner dress of creamy Bengal satin and a remarkable dancing dress made of many thick masses of illusion, one tint under another, so placed that the result is o an opalescent summer sky at dawn. I would be hard to divide impartially one's enthusiasm between the toilets proposed and the morning, bedroom, lounging and tea gowns of lace. A great many are of quilted brocaded Japanese crepes, of silk crepons, striped in lines of satin, showing sleeves to reach the floor, airy cataracts of lace falling from the shoulder, and amid all these draperies the sleeves proper appear fitting the arm close and wrink ling down to the elbow, to be caught by little gold-linked studs.

Already some of the furs have ar rived, in three huge cedar-lined chests of their own, containing the most elaborate set of sables ever prepared for one woman. The sleighing set includes a cloak so long that the feet can be wrapped in its skirts; it is lined with mole skins. A LOVELY DIVAN ROBE. In addition to the sables are sets o sealskin, and most costly of all the fur garments, chinchilla opera cape, falling from neck to heels, and lined with rosy satin. Among these fur things was sent a curiously beautiful divan obe, made of eiderdown, unplucked, from the duck's skin, and pieced artfully together like any pelt. Broadway costumer, whose dresses for Julia Marlowe-Tuber's production of "Henry IV" are creating a furore in the West, Mr. Heerman has invented a dress which hides the ugly motion of the hips on the wheel, by the skirt of the coat, enough to escupe a wind-up in the wheel,

An interlining of a peculiar unshrink-able kind of hair cloth keeps this skirt in absolutely faultiess shape, no matter how fast you seorch, or how high the wind. If you have watched your sisters on the wheel, you have doubtless wondered if anything on earth could prevent a wheel woman's waist from "hitching up" at the shoulders, and looking forlorn and scollopy at the belt line. Behold, Mr. Heerman has solved that perpiexing problem by carrying his waist only to the shoulder line. It follows the style of a peasant walst, and is absolutely free from the distressing "hitchy" look of most waists. The skirt may, by very elever arrangement of a single cord, be instantly regulated to meet the re quirements of a business woman n-foot or of a wheel woman mounted on her shining steed. The Alaskan Dispute May Soon be Forced to a Conclusion.

Canada Has Instructed Her Mounted Police to Control the Frontier.

This Will Compel Secretary Olney to Take Decisive Action.

New York, Oct. 28 .- A special to the World says: "The Alaskan boundary line question will be forced to a speedy termination by the action of Canada, if not by some diplomatic move on the part of Secretary of State Olney. It is announced that the Dominion government intends to direct the mounted police to assume control of the whole frontier along the Canadian boundary of Alaska, with power to collect duty and hold cour martials to try criminal cases.

"The American and Canadian boundary lines are in conflict as to 7.3 miles of territory along the Yukon river on the east and west lines. The disputed territory embraces the mouth of Forty Mile ereck, through which access is had to the valuable placer mines at the head waters of that stream The Canadian police, in earrying out their instructions, will doubtless assume jurisdiction up to the lines of the Canadian survey, and several thousand American miners, who will be in that region shortly, will be subject to their authority. "Secretary Olney, it is thought, in view of the more or less serious character of the situation, will make some effort to bring up the dispute at the Bering sea convention next week. In case of trouble region, the United States district attorney at Sitka has authority to employ deputy marshals to preserve order, but news of a disturbance to reach him."

Mr. Germain says that Sweden and Norway and Great Britain also contemplate the adoption of the German system.

BURNING COAL.

An Exploded Volcanic Story in Washington.

Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 28.—The exploring party which went into the of Nicaragua. Olympic mountains seeking evidences of alleged volcanic fires, has returned after an unsuccessful trip. They reached the summit of the first range and ascertained that the smoke and flames came from a deep ravine leading down from the mountain peak and which was filled with dead timber. In the same ravine is a lead of lignite coal which was ignited and as the fire followed up the vein, boulders and falling earth caused the flames to ascend similar to volcanic fires; in the last few days the flames almost subsided, though vast volumes of smoke continue to roll upward. After convincing themselves of the cause and origin of the fires, they hurriedly returned to Port Townsend.

Tired Women

Should stop and consider the dangers which threaten them because of their weakness, languor and lack of ambition. Thousands of women find their strength unequal to the demands of duty. And yet there is no escape from the incessant round of care and toil. They must have strength. How shall it be given? By building up their systems through purified, enriched and vitalized blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them strength because it will make their blood pure and enable it to feed the nerves upon proper nourishment. It will create an appetite, tone the stomach and invigorate every organ. It is what tired women need.

Corn and oats—Larger receipts of corn caused another decline in the near options, but there was good buying of May. Oats a shade lower but featureless.

Provisions easier on larger receipts of hogs and selling of long stuff.

Stocks—The market was very weak most of the session, but towards the close the whole list rallied, closing about the same as Saturday. We think it will do to buy some stock now for a short turn.

There are many reasons why the presence of two telephone systems would be undesirable. If there were two companies operating here their systems would not be connected and the subscribers of the Duluth company would connected with the Standard's company's system. Any business man who uses a telephone very often will see at once what a great inconvenience this would be. In order to have an efficient service does now for telephone service.

There is another point that deserves th attention of the aldermen when considering this question. The franchise of the Duluth Telephone company will expire in about a three and a half years. ROBERT DOWNING.

Tonight Robert Downing will appear at the Lyceum in the production of his latest venture, "Helena," a romantic drama from the pen of Victorine Sardou. The critics for jail the Eastern cities where "Helena" has been given, have been unanimous in their verdict that Mr. Downing's production of "Helena" from the scenic and spectacular standpoint is fully the equal of "Gismonda," and that it is a much superior play from a moral and dramatic view. The play was secured for Mr. Downing towards the end of last season through his European agents. It was translated and adapted to the American stage by A. D. Hall. During the past summer Mr. Downing has had the first scenic artists of this country engaged in preparing the scenery and stage settings for the production. He has also made a feature of the costuming of the play; every dress being new, elaborate and historically correct.

A popular priced matinee will be given rect.

A popular priced matinee will be given on Tuesday afternoon when Mr. Downing will be seen in his great impersonation of "Othelio," and on Tuesday evening the "Gladiator" will be produced with all its wealth of scenery and magnificent stage paraphernalia. Mr. Downing will be supported by Eugenie Blair and a strong company of legitimate players. Eastern Cities Are Now Turn-"LITTLE ROBINSON CRUSOE."

The operatic burlesque, "Little Robinson Crusoe," which comes to the Lyceum next Thursday, Friday and Saturday was launched upon the capricious sea of public fancy last June in Chicago and achieved such popularity that it staid there for three consecutive months. There is said to be plenty of fun in "Crusoe" as there is much graceful and melodious music, an infinite variety of original and strikingly handsome costumes and a wealth of beautiful scenery. The piece has been given a very strong cast and the company is one of the largest traveling this season. The three acts are said to be evolved in a series of charming stage pictures, full of life, color, beauty and graceful motion and Eddie Foy, the clever comedian who is starring in the piece, it is said, was never so provokingly funny as he proves to be in his role of Dare-Devil Willie, an amateur pirate. There will be a special Saturday matinee for ladies and children ; with prices at 50 and 25 cents. ing to the Hills for Water.

Moran Was Fined.

The trial of Robert Moran on a s var I, infant daughter of derly conduct charge was on hearing Mary Savard, 5121/2 West this morning before Judge Boyle in the municipal court. Albert Baldwin appeared for the defense. The disorderly Figure 1 losed Satisaday even-conduct consisted of some decidedly in-decent language alleged to have been used to Detective Tom Hayden who made the arrest a few days ago. In ren-dering his decision Judge Boyle took ocasion to remark that in his opinion t casion to remark that in his opinion the language used was worse than an assault and would justify an assault. He thereupon imposed a line of $15 and costs white an alternative of fifteen days in the county jail. Moran was immediately tried on a charge of assault growing out of the same case. At noon the hearing was adjourned until this afternoon.
